

2010 Green Film Series

Fourth Film in the "Making the Connections" Series

Journey to Planet Earth: The State of the Planet's Oceans

Though separated by distance and culture, for the six and a half billion people who draw sustenance from the rich diversity of the natural world, there are common bonds. Bonds that are renewed by each generation, bringing new ideas, new attitudes, new hope for the state of the world's oceans.

Saturday, May 15, 2010, 7 PM
First Christian Church
3590 Placer Street, Redding
FREE to the public

*Panel Discussion
Immediately Following Film*

Panelists:

Mike Berry, Staff Environmental Scientist
Shasta College Economic and Workforce Development

Dan Scollon, GIS Instructor and Sustainability Committee Member
Shasta College

Guy Chetelat, Geologist
Regional Water Quality Control Board

Mark Mlcoch, President
NorCal Fishing Guides Association

Held as part of the Whole Earth and Watershed Festival and in collaboration with the Shasta College Sustainability Conference

*Special thanks to additional sponsors of this film:
Center for Spiritual Living, Citizens for Responsible Government, First United Methodist Church, Jefferson Public Radio, KIXE TV, Pacific West Graphics, The Shasta Conservation Fund, and Western Shasta RCD*

www.wholeearthandwatershedfestival.org